

A JEWISH RABBI

Preached Jesus Christ Crucified at St. Paul, Minn.

The Members of the Synagogue Rush Upon Him

And Beat Him in a Horrible Manner and Then Threw Him Out of the Edifice—The Rabbi Will Bring Suit for Big Damages.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Aug. 8.—Saturday, which was the Jewish Sabbath, at 5:30 in the afternoon, the hour when the members of Jacob's congregation pray and listen to a discourse from their rabbi, the synagogue of the Sons of Jacob was filled with devout worshippers.

A stranger rabbi, for such he was taken to be, arose and began to preach in the Hebrew tongue.

He was clever, and the audience was much taken with him. Suddenly he began to preach Christ crucified.

A match dropped into a can of powder could not have created a greater commotion. The entire congregation was in fact demanding that the man be put out of the house.

The man continued to preach Christ as though talking to the most appreciative audience, and a moment later everybody made a rush for him at once. He attempted to run, but was overtaken and struck, and when he fell was well trampled upon the floor, dragged and thrown out of the synagogue, the stranger took the hint and concluded that he was not wanted there.

It seems that the stranger was a convert to English Jewry, named Nathaniel Friedman, who lives at 606 Lawson street. He claims that he was invited there by a prominent member of the Sons of Jacob, and told that he might preach a short sermon.

Friedman attended Sunday evening that he would bring suit against the Sons of Jacob to recover damages for the injuries, etc. Friedman is not seriously hurt, but has some big bumps on his head, which he received by having his head bumped on the floor.

A Man With Seven Bullets in His Who Can Not Recover.

CHELSEA, N. Y., Aug. 8.—A Sunday morning a terrible scene occurred in the restaurant of Wilkinson & Wade, Ed Seager and the proprietors being the participants. The trouble grew out of Seager refusing to pay for a meal of virtual, the price of which was twenty-five cents, whereupon Seager began to curse, slapping the face of Wilkinson, when the latter drew his revolver and fired at Seager. Wade also opened fire on Seager. After the smoke of battle had cleared away, it was found that he had been hit nine times, one ball hitting him in the mouth, one in the neck, one in the back and three in the abdomen. The wounded man was taken to comfortable quarters, where a physician was called and dressed his wounds. Wilkinson and Wade left for parts unknown.

A Word to Republicans.

The hope of the party lies in the expansion of its numbers and power. The party which resists or otherwise helps to support a Democratic paper to the exclusion of one of its party newspapers is untrue to the Republican cause.

treat without number before the hearings before the Ways and Means Committee, but the members of that committee themselves spent no little time and labor in the construction of a schedule that would give the American farmer more thorough Protection and a better hold on the home market. That their efforts did not result in failure is shown by the following table giving the imports of various competing farm products (or finished products of which the raw material competes) in the years 1889 and 1891—the years immediately preceding and following the enactment of the McKinley bill—together with changes in rates of duty made by the new law:

"FEW Presidents," observes The Dispatch Tribune, "have made so many judiciary appointments as Mr. HARRISON has, and no President has made better ones."

THERE is not a Democratic editor in the land from Cape Cod to San Francisco, from Lake Itasca to Key West, who is not to-day buying the very paper on which he prints his McKinley prices falsehoods for more money than he paid before the McKinley law was passed.

THE more the Democrats handle Senator ALDRICH's Tariff speech the less they like it. There was no empty generalization in it. The proofs were furnished for every statement, and every argument was forced home with mathematical precision. When a Democratic Tariff-computer rises in the Senate to answer that speech, he has the cautious air of a strategist who is facing a maneuvered army.

STILL no Democrat has pointed out any article of domestic consumption that has been increased in price since the enactment of the McKinley law. Those whose price has been decreased might be named by the score.

CANDIDATE STEVENSON hasn't written a letter since his nomination that has leaked into publicity through the newspapers. His correspondents are vastly more considerate of his letters than the friends of Mr. CLEVELAND are of the latter's fervid and solicitous communications.

In order to put a stop to the fulminations of The Chicago Herald as to the wages paid at Homestead, The Chicago Inter-Ocean challenged The Herald to publish a list comparing the wages of one hundred of the best paid working men in the Carnegie mills, with one hundred of the best paid men on The Herald's staff. With the exception of an occasional feeble spurt, The Herald isn't saying much about wages nowadays.

THE coolest things which we have found during the last week of intolerance here, was The New York Tribune, having been the assertion in a Western humoristic journal that the price of an aniline coat had been raised from a dollar to the wicked Tariff trust, and that millions of dollars will be saved to consumers by "Tariff reform and free coal." As there is no duty on aniline coal, this assumption is really very refreshing.

DEMOCRATS weep over "the burdens of taxation" that are put upon the people, but they have never accomplished the removal of any of these burdens. The promise of the Republican party is, if the burden is specified and pointed out (which the Democratic shouters cannot do), to remove the burden if it lies within the authority of the Government to do it. The people are showing ample capacity to learn that the alleged burdens that the Democrats point out do not, in fact, rest upon the people. The people have insight to perceive that the burdens that afflict them are not those due to a Protective Tariff.

ALTHOUGH the articles given in this table are but a few of the many that compete with the products of the American farms, they are enough to show that the effects of the McKinley Tariff has been to greatly decrease agricultural imports, and by the amount of that decrease, to put money into the pockets of our farmers. We also see that agricultural products have taken the advantage given them by the American Economist, to diversify the crops by raising the things for which the new Tariff law guarantees them a splendid market, instead of those of which there is a superabundant supply. Let the farmer continue his good work in this direction and it will be but a short time before foreign markets and foreign dependency will be a thing of the past. Prosperity for American farmers will be the watchword in the coming campaign, and the only way to secure it is to vote for Protection's candidates next November. Farmers should bear this in mind.

Two years from now the whole country will be glorying in the success of the World's Fair, and the whole world will pay tribute to the energy and enterprise of the American people in planning it and carrying it to a successful culmination. By that time Brother Holman and the Democratic party will be convinced that they had offered every support and encouragement to the great exposition, but now is the time for the American people to take note of the fact that it is the Democratic House that has refused substantial aid to the World's Fair.

by the Government of Russia.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—British domestic politics are overshadowed by the gravity of the news from Peking. China and Great Britain are both moving in different directions. Russia, aggressive, while the Afghans also claim to part of the disputed territory and are attempting to hold it against both the Chinese and the Russians.

Chang, with whom the Afghans have been already encountered, are the Afghans in a bloody conflict at Samitash. The Chinese were considerably outnumbered, but they fought resolutely and only retreated after the fall of overwhelming numbers. The Chinese held the field.
